I have mentioned before that I met some very dedicated people in Melbourne running an urban farm in the Docklands. The farm is very new and on the Sunday I was allowed to sit in on a community consultation exercise there. Here are some images from the farm and the meeting. In the photos we can see the farm under the block on the harbour front, and the people involved, Emily, Rowena, Timmah, Ellie and many more. You can see more information about this on the website named Urban Reforestation.
